PRESS RELEASE

DODONI develops a new online service in order to better support its thousands of farmers

In the frame of continuously improving its cooperation with its thousands of farmers, and aiming for the provision of better, faster and more direct support, DODONI S.A. developed a portal which will grant farmers access to quantity and quality characteristics related to the milk they deliver, while additional data concerning their financial transactions with the company will be also available.

Specifically, by visiting DODONI S.A. official website www.dodoni.eu, and clicking "farmers' portal" on the menu bar, or with direct access via http://www.dodni.eu/el/farmersportal, the farmers will be able to login by using their personal passwords, and obtain easy access to their personal page. This page provides information regarding their personal and statistical data, while direct contact with the company is also provided by using the contact form.

DODONI continues its innovative work aiming to establish constant communication with its producers and provide them with effective support, through electronic access to data of their concern. That way, the company significantly limits the transportation difficulties, as many suppliers are forced to travel considerable distances.

The essential objective of the new innovative service provided by DODONI, is to keep the farmers up-to-date, so that they can adopt certain actions that will lead to an optimal quality and quantity of the milk offered, thus achieving higher selling prices.

Deputy CEO at DODONI SA Mr. Michalis Panagiotakis stated: "DODONI implements another innovation for our farmers' better and faster support. We are proud and delighted to offer our farmers all those facilities in order for them to be better organized and adopt measures for optimal milk production, based on quantitative and qualitative characteristics. We will continue supporting our farmers, while supporting also the primary sector of the Epirus region in general."
